50 CENTS COMMISSION ALLOWED ON EVERY NEW NAME SENT US!

PERMIT us to remind you that the time up to which you have subscribed for THE INDEPENDENT, has expired. As our receipts are made up of such small sums as TWO DOLLARS from each subscriber, you will see the importance of promptly remitting this amount; and by so doing you will avoid the necessity of paying the increased rates charged to delinquents. We trust there will be no necessity of repeating this reminder. You will observe that a liberal commission is allowed to subscribers who send us new names with our subscription price. Have you availed yourself of this easy method of money making?

Yours respectfully,

Mr. Society of Inquiry

Sir:—Your subscription to "The Press" will expire

July 4 1859

I shall be pleased to receive a renewal previous to that date.

JOHN W. FORNEY.

Smithsonian Institution, April, 1859.

DEAR SIR: We would be very much obliged to you for an account or list of the BEQUESTS and DONATIONS, exceeding one thousand dollars, which have at any time been made to your Institution. We have commenced the preparation of an article on this subject, and desire to have it as complete as possible. Please give the name of the donor or person making the bequest; his place of birth and residence; the special object indicated by him; amount in dollars, if in cash; if in property, the kind, and estimated value; if in books, the character and number; also, any references to published accounts of the benefactors of your Institution.

An immediate answer will greatly oblige,

Yours, respectfully,
JOSEPH HENRY, Secretary Smithsonian Institution.
